Reflect, share your story, and celebrate UPDATE: New submission tool for Silver Award Final Reports. Standard finish medals are similar in shape and size but are made to be worn at any time with a uniform. Military Medal SizesThe sizes of military medals vary almost as greatly as the designs. Beginning October 1, 2021, all Silver Award final paperwork must be submitted electronically through the online submission platform. Please read through the Silver Award Final Report Questions Guide with your troop leader prior to submitting your final report. Full-sized military medals are made to be worn on the left side of military dress uniforms or dress wear. Commemorative medals are designed only for decoration and are never worn with a uniform. It all adds up to the Girl Scout Silver Award—the highest honor a Cadette can achieve. Download the Silver Award guidelines to find out how. Miniature medals are generally one-half the size of full-sized military medals. This survey must be completed by September 30th of the year you complete 8th grade and enter 9th grade. You can pursue your Girl Scout Silver Award if: You're in sixth, seventh, or eighth grade (or equivalent) You're a registered Girl Scout Cadette You have completed a Cadette Journey Girl Scout Silver Award Steps Identify an issue you care about Build your Girl Scout Silver Award team or decide to go solo Pick your Silver Award project Make a plan and put it into motion Reflect, share your story, and celebrate Vietnam medals and ribbons are different than Cold War ribbon and medal standards, and each tells a story about the courage and sacrifice of the recipient. Build your Girl Scout Silver Award team or decide to go solo Pick up to three team members who have the same goals as you. It is only offered to individuals who risked their own lives performing above and beyond the call of duty and offered "conspicuous gallantry and intrepidity" in the face of active enemy engagement. Please read over all the resources below for details. Quick Start | Step-by-step | Resources | Completion Procedures Have you ever looked around your neighborhood or school and wondered how you could make a change for the better? The Medal of Honor was first offered to soldiers during the Civil War and approximately 3,500 medals have been awarded across all branches of the U.S. military combined, per Medals of America. There are just three main types of medals that are issued by the U.S. military. These medals are to be worn with mess dress uniforms or dinner dress uniforms for occasions like military balls. These medals are often in a distinguishable shape such as crosses and stars, explains Medals of America. Medal FinishesThere are two standard types of medal finishes that are provided by the military when exploring award medals and ribbons. Explore your community Locate and contact an organization in your community that is connected to the topic of your project Ask an adult at that organization to be your project advisor (it's great practice for the Gold Award!) Pick your Silver Award project Complete the Council Online Approval Tool and work with your troop advisor to get the final approval page, you'll need it later! Develop your project Work with the organization in your community to design a project that will solve the problem you chose. You can pursue your Girl Scout Silver Award if: You're in sixth, seventh, or eighth grade (or equivalent) You're a registered Girl Scout Cadette You have completed a Cadette Journey (Earning all awards, including the Take Action project) Girl Scout Silver Award Steps Identify an issue you care about Build your Girl Scout Silver Award team or decide to go solo Pick your Silver Award project Make a plan and put it into motion Reflect, share your story, and celebrate Identify an issue you care about Look around your community to find a problem you want to solve! You may begin working on the Silver Award prerequisites as soon as you bridge to or register as a Girl Scout Cadette. Service medals are designed to be specific to a particular campaign and offer a rounded medallion with the words "service medal" printed somewhere on the award. Each girl needs to use the Silver Award guidelines to develop their Silver Award project. When Girl Scout Cadettes focus on an issue they care about, learn the facts, and take action to make a difference, they gain the confidence and skills that will catapult them to lifelong success. These include Combat Action, Navy Sea Service Deployment Ribbon and the Air Force Longevity Career Award, according to Medals of America. These smaller versions are meant to be worn on casual dress as well as dress uniforms, but they allow the display of more medals in a single location. Military Ribbons and MedalsSome military awards include ribbons only without the addition of a medal. Ribbons might accompany a medal or stand-alone by sliding onto a bar, and they are worn according to each branch of the military's regulations. Going for the Girl Scout Silver Award—the highest award a Girl Scout Cadette can earn—gives you the chance to do big things and make your community better in the process. Congratulations, you have completed your Silver Award! Use the following resources to help you with the project: Completion Procedures for Cadette Troop Advisors For best results when downloading forms, please use the latest version of Adobe Acrobat. MORE FROM QUESTIONS ANSWERED.NET These medals are divided into decoration medals, service medals and commemoration medals. Make a plan and put it into motion Write your plan down and use your teamwork skills to give every team member a role and responsibilities. Check out this guide to U.S. military medals and awards, and learn more about the significance of each. The Medal of HonorKnown as the most prestigious of all medals awarded by the U.S. military, the Medal of Honor is different in each branch of the military. Every member of the team needs to be able to contribute about 50 hours. Anodized medals are shiny and plated with gold. Decorative medals are made to denote meritorious service, gallantry or valor. Now that you have completed your project, submit your Final Report electronically and attach your printed approval page from Step Four.
